Annual Report 2011-12

a joint-use facility for Florida Atlantic University and Broward College

PRIMO goes prime time

August 8 was our cutover date for the unveiling of the new ExLibris catalog interface known as PRIMO. More than two-thirds of all state colleges in Florida (22 of 28) are now providing the Primo software-based version of LINCCWeb to their students. The UCL librarians did extensive testing of the search results before recommending the cutover. The change took place during the extended break between the end of summer and start of the fall 2012 term.

New and improving . . .

⇒ Coffee Shop is still in the works as we await the opening of a Dunkin Donuts in the remodeled southwest corner of the first floor.

⇒ The doors to the FPL room on the exterior of the building were replaced since the old ones were deteriorating from water damage.

⇒ The bid was awarded for the refurbishment of the elevator in LRC. Work to start in January 2013.

⇒ The former microform room (160) has been re-purposed as a quiet study area with the addition of some wet tables and display cases for some of the museum collections.

⇒ New "printer on" - provided wireless printing for direct printing from student laptops
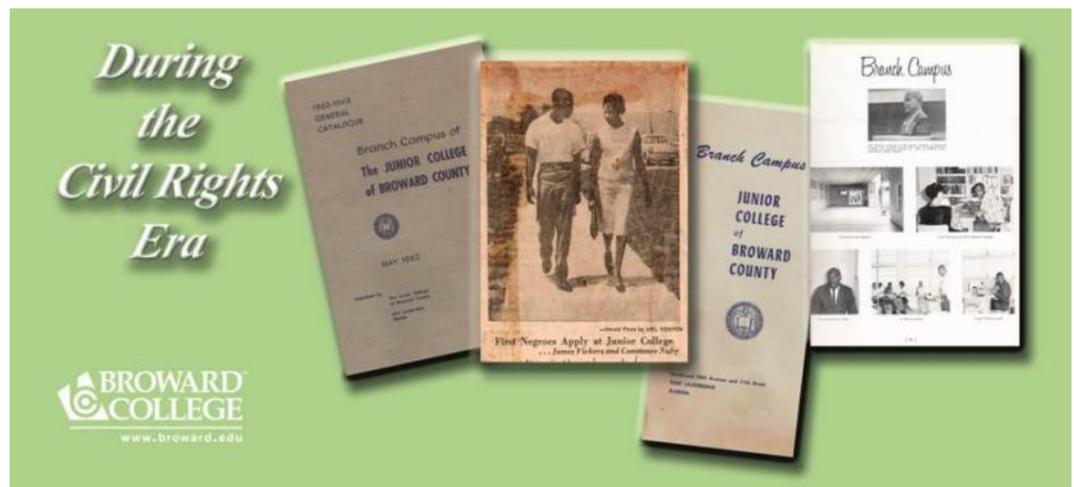

As I come to work each day . . .

. . . I am reminded of a phrase on a poster I saw many years ago "We are living in a world of permanent change." The irony of the oxymoron struck me at the time, but the reality of the sentiment resonates in me now.

Changes in libraries continue at breakneck speed. Our mission to provide access to information remains the same; how we do it changes. This year we enhanced our selection workflow so that our librarian selectors can do more electronically, eliminating paperwork. As e-book options improve, we evaluate and opt for e-versions – for example, most of our reference titles are now ordered in "e". We expanded our leisure collections to include DVD and audiobook titles – to rave reviews! We added a new scanner with state of the art touch interface. We virtualized in-house support applications for statistics, time clock, calendars, and "deep freeze". We hired an adjunct librarian to work with online and international students in their virtual environments.

As a joint-use venture, we continue to adapt systems and access so that all students and faculty from the College and the University benefit from the vast resources and student-centered services we provide. — Jackie

Archives

. . . lessons in American history to be learned from what happened right here in Broward County . . . a great opportunity to demonstrate to students the value of archives, and that not everything can be found online.

DSpace Video Repository

Palm Beach State Librarian Susan K. Setterlund was a volunteer in U/C Library Archives & Special Collection during summer 2012 to fulfill her requirement for the University of Arizona Library Science Capstone project.

Susan piloted the DSpace Video Repository – a collection of historic Broward College videos created by the college Publicity Department. The project was a collaboration between several U/C Library departments, including Archives & Special Collections, Library Automation, and Technical Services. This project served as a pilot for the Institutional Repository to collect, preserve and make accessible the historic electronic output of the college.

Literary Feast

Our 4nd Annual Literary Feast hosted by the University/College Library was held in the new Visual Arts Building on the Central/Davie Campus on November 1, 2012.

The purpose of the event continues to be to provide an awareness of the talent and creativity of the professors who teach at BC and FAU as well as to provide an opportunity for students to interact and engage with professors as scholars outside of the classroom.

Professors who participate are available in an informal setting to answer questions from students, staff, and faculty about their work. Every year this event grows: the 3rd annual drew 20 participants and 273 attendees.

Information Literacy

Faculty Librarians have developed several unique information literacy sessions:

SPN 1120 & 1121: unique because it is taught entirely in Spanish. Spanish resources such as WorldBook Hispanica, Mango and Informe Revistas are presented.

APA Boot Camp: the Basics (1-3 times a semester): open to all students, staff and faculty who wish to learn the basics of APA Style.

Embedded Librarian: an Ethno botany class assignment gives the librarian the opportunity to foster critical thinking skills about the materials the students are required to use for their sources. RN to BSN Nursing: two 1-hour sessions a day with each cohort. The first hour focuses on research; the second covers APA style. English-language learners: English language learners familiarize themselves with the library during at least two sessions for an introduction to the concept of academic library in the United States and then for hands-on practice to search and find library resources.

*The U/C Library now uses Google Analytics to collect website usage statistics. The unit of measure reported is "Page Views". This is a more accurate representation of actual usage than the previous methodology which counted a "hit" for every component of a web page that got loaded.
