

Annual Report 2012-13

A joint-use facility serving
Florida Atlantic University and Broward College

P'an Ku goes digital

Archives & Special Collections recently digitized and made available the entire run of the Broward College literary magazine P'an Ku. All content from 1964 – 2012 was scanned cover-to-cover and in full color. Individual issues are available for downloading in a variety of formats and can also be read and enjoyed online. You can find them all at our Internet Archive site: <http://archive.org/details/browardcollege>.

New and improving . . .

Computer advances

- ⇒ To ensure that computers in the Library are available for use by FAU and BC patrons, the library automation team implemented logins over the summer. Guest logins are available at the Reference Desk for special situations that may arise.
- ⇒ Two new state-of-the-art scanners from Scannx and three new printers with duplexing and legal paper size support were purchased over the past year. The scanners have innovative touch screens that make it easy for students to scan directly to their email account, online storage, or thumb drive.

Reorganization

- ⇒ The U/CL reorganization has been completed. The Associate Dean of IT now reports to District IT. While the reporting relationships for several LRC and Technology Services staff and our online librarian have changed, the working relationships and Library/LRC support have not.

Facilities

- ⇒ The first floor lighting project has been completed. Light ballasts were replaced with wider and brighter ones to support the reconfiguration of the area from general book stacks to a reader friendly environment.
- ⇒ Rusty rooftop doors have been replaced.
- ⇒ The refurbishment of the LRC elevator has been completed.
- ⇒ The replacement of Library front doors with ADA compliant ones will occur between the Fall and Winter terms.
- ⇒ A project near completion is the repurposing of space previously dedicated to reference books to space supporting additional student computer workstations.
- ⇒ Facilities projects in the queue for assessment include two related to electronic and standard signage for both the Library and LRC, the construction of a larger Library classroom, and the replacement of solid walls with window walls for the curriculum labs and Tutoring Center.

Collection and Preservation for the Future

How will future generations understand our contemporary online culture, where student activity and college discourse is increasingly online and ephemeral? In April, 2013, the Archives & Special Collections department started to collect and preserve this culture for the future. Partnering with Archive-It!, a service of the Internet Archive, we are archiving Broward College web pages, news feeds, YouTube channels, Facebook pages, and Twitter feeds. Find us at <http://www.archive-it.org/organizations/654>.

National Days of Remembrance

Archives & Special Collections, in partnership with the Institute of Public Safety and Professor Benjamin Botero, presented National Days of Remembrance, an informative and sobering poster exhibit created by the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington, DC. The exhibit features images and videos documenting the history of the holocaust in Europe from 1933 to 1945. In addition, the exhibit examined other examples of genocide, such as the one taking place in current day Darfur. After being on display in the library, the exhibit was installed in IPS through April 2013.

Learning Resources Center

The Central Campus Learning Resources Center (LRC) has become a sanctuary of knowledge for students. Every week, the LRC offers 80.5+ hours of math tutoring, 75+ hours of tutoring in science, English and other general education areas and 54+ hours of disability tutoring. The LRC has 48 laptops available for student checkout and for the first six weeks of the term, laptops were checked out 1836 times. As of October 4, 2013, the LRC's open computer lab, which consists of 101 PC's and two MAC'S, has had 9024 student visits. The LRC is also known for Start Smart camp, which is a way for prospective students to review basic skills prior to completing the enrollment process.

Message from the Dean

This past June as a new Dean, one of the first things that I reviewed was the Mission statement of both Broward College and Florida Atlantic University. I used these broad statements to inform and define the plan for the coming year, which is to continue to support the existing learning-centered environment of the Library and Learning Resources Center (LRC) that strengthens academic and personal development. During the past five months, I have observed and reviewed library and learning resources functions, services, staffing levels, and facilities. Using the “learning centered environment” lens, my outstanding team and I are planning major learning, service and facilities projects.

Funding for tutoring services has increased by $75,000, and tutoring is now scheduled to 80.5 hours per week. Patron support at the reference and circulation desks has been augmented with the addition of roving circulation and technical services staff throughout the building. During the first seven weeks of the semester, 2048 students attended 87 information literacy workshops offered by our faculty librarians. Our faculty, staff, and administrators have also assumed significant roles on the Developmental Education, SACS Coordinating, Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) Committees.

In the near future “Tech Talk” support will become available at the reference desk approximately 25 hours a week to assist with hardware, software and applications questions. We continue to work closely with FLVC to ensure that electronic database purchases reflect institutional needs and that the college is ready to fund supplemental resources.

The Academic Center for Teaching was moved from 17/408 to the Learning Resources Center (LRC) to accommodate a new classroom on the fourth floor. Currently, the construction of a second classroom on the first floor for Library instruction is under facilities assessment as well as the replacement of solid walls with window walls in the LRC. A full building signage project is planned, including electronic signage in the lobby to promote instructional workshops and facilitate building navigation. Lastly, 25 new computer workstations will be added to the first-floor reference area, including one that is ADA compliant.

The Library team continues to work tirelessly to support student success and our learning centered environment. We will continue to pursue resources and ideas to strengthen the mission of both BC and FAU.

Join Us on Facebook

Recently, University/College Library has taken on an active role in connecting with its students through social media. We can now be found on Facebook and hope that you get a chance to visit and share with us on our page. We are constantly updating our content with library related news and events. You can also check out our latest suggestions for materials and resources. But more importantly, we want to hear from you.

Literary Feast

The 5th Annual Literary Feast, a special milestone, will be hosted by the University/College Library Faculty at Bailey Hall on the Central/Davie Campus November 5, 2013.

The theme chosen to honor our QEP project is: Thinking critically across all avenues of creativity. To celebrate, things will be done a bit differently. For the first time we will be featuring student/instructor collaborations across all disciplines. The purpose of the event continues to be to provide an awareness of the talent and creativity of the professors who teach at BC and FAU as well as to provide an opportunity for students to interact and engage with professors as scholars outside of the classroom. The event promotes literacy in all its forms and continues to establish our library as a place of learning and exchange of ideas.

Professors who participate are available in an informal setting to answer questions from students, staff, and faculty about their work. Every year this event grows; estimated attendance is 300, based on the numbers from previous years.

Information Literacy

This year's information literacy classes saw an increase in graduate level courses from Florida Atlantic University's nursing, microbiology and education programs. Specialized sessions have been expanded to include the BSN nursing courses taught off-site at the Broward General Medical Center in Fort Lauderdale and Memorial Training Center in Miramar.

A Library Assessment Task Force was formed to develop a college-wide assessment tool for all information literacy sessions that included the appropriate ACRL standards.

Funded by the World Bank and hosted by FAU's Microbiology Department, 12 African scientists toured our facility and received a detailed research session on valuable resources offered through the university as well as open access information.

Two advanced level APA boot camps were facilitated for the Education Leadership PROPEL cohorts, focusing on proper documentation of data sets, theses and dissertations, and measurement instruments.
